The path to safer ministry

Using the Professional Standards documents of the Anglican Church of Australia
Safer ministry

Safer ministry is important to the Anglican Church.

Our aim is to manage risks to effective ministry in the context of personal and pastoral relationships. Dioceses use resources developed by the Professional Standards Commission. This document identifies these resources and when to use them.

They are tools for effective ministry. Some are most useful for bishops while others are for clergy and church workers. Some are very specific in their use and others have a broad application across the church.

Professional Standards Commission resources are used in conjunction with the documents for professional standards of each diocese. The processes for handling complaints and working with survivors and respondents may vary between dioceses. The professional standards processes for your diocese are available from the Diocesan Office.

Where

The resources are found on the General Synod website under Governance, Commissions, Professional Standards.

When

Resources fall into 2 categories:

Prevention

These resources are used in promoting safer ministry.

Their aim is preventing abuse in churches and church bodies.

They do this by identifying standards of behaviour and providing guidelines for screening, selecting and training clergy and church workers.

Response

These resources are used when responding to alleged or confirmed incidents of abuse in churches and church bodies.

They include caring for survivors, handling complaints and responding to people about whom complaints have been made.

What

The type of document influences its style and language. A legal document is structured differently from an educational or procedural one.

The types of resources are

- Principles
- Risk Management
- Education
- Research
- Procedures
- Legal
Purpose

Each resource has a purpose which aligns with the categories of prevention and response. The resources may be used for one or more of the following purposes.

Prevention
- Identifying standards of behaviour
- Training
- Screening and selecting clergy and church workers

Response
- Caring for those who have been abused
- Handling complaints
- Responding to persons of concern

How

We can picture the aim, category, purpose and types of professional standards resources like this:
Who

There is a range of people involved in promoting safer ministry in the church.
Identifying Standards of Behaviour

Purpose: These documents identify the standards behaviour of clergy and church workers and provide guidelines for achieving them.

Users: Bishops, clergy, church workers, Directors of Professional Standards

Documents:

1. Faithfulness in Service
   Bishops, clergy, church workers and parishioners use this document to identify the standard of behaviour for bishops, clergy and church workers.
   Faithfulness in Service 6th edition November 2011

2. Self-care of clergy and churchworkers
   Clergy and church workers use this document to better understand self-care.
   Bishops, supervisors and church wardens use this document to help clergy and church workers understand the importance of self-care and act on it.

Study of Reported Child Sexual Abuse in the Anglican Church

Purpose:
Research commissioned by the Standing Committee of General Synod assessed cases of reported child sexual abuse in the Anglican Church of Australia in the period 1990-2008.

The research assisted the Commission to verify the efficacy of the Church’s child protection protocols when assessed against the nature and circumstance of reported child sexual abuse.

Recommendations for change to specific child protection protocols and practical adjustments to processes were made as a result of the findings of the Study.
